

On June 7 last The Star in good faith printed a letter from one Janice Evans, giving her address as 23 West 26th street, New York City, in which she reported that a group of people sought to interview Senator J. W. Fulbright at his Washington office June 2 in an attempt to win votes against the Mundt bill to outlaw Communists. The letter stated Senator Fulbright because he was not able to receive the delegation.

As a matter of fact this newspaper also is opposed to passage of the Mundt, or Mundt-Nixon, bill; but Senator Fulbright has the specific privilege given every office-holder of seeking his own counsel and making his own decisions—among which decisions would certainly be one not to grant interviews to pressure groups, particularly suspicious characters not even living in the state that elected him.

If we are slightly hot about the letter that this Miss Evans person wrote The Star, and which we printed, it is for the following reasons:

Practically every paper in the state got similar letters. Miss Evans doesn't live at the address she gave us.

Investigation resulted in the Post Office Department returning all inquiries with the notation "Party unknown."

Differences of opinion on whether it is wise to fight Communism openly, under present law, or try to stamp it out with a new law at the risk of running it underground, are natural and inevitable among honest men. But the debate is confined to people with real names and bona fide addresses.

The FBI is now looking into the matter of Janice Evans and that New York address—and personally we wish the FBI a lot of luck.

If you are going to correspond with a newspaper, my friend, be at least as honest as the paper and its staff. Give your right name and address, and if you have a reasonable explanation for wanting to sign a pen-name in print the chances are the paper will allow this—but they must know that the person they are dealing with is real and not anonymous.

Says White House Has Not Ask Ike to Withdraw

Washington, July 2.—J. Howard McGrath, Democratic chairman, said today the White House has taken no steps to try to get Dwight D. Eisenhower to remove himself "fully and irrevocably" from the nomination contest.

McGrath made this comment to a reporter when asked about a Washington dispatch to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. This story said a meeting of the White House kitchen cabinet last Wednesday decided to send George E. Allen, friend of both Mr. Truman and Eisenhower, to New York to urge Eisenhower to remove himself "fully and irrevocably" from the nomination contest.

Allen was a guest of Eisenhower in New York today. Reached by telephone, he said: "I have no comment on anything."

Allen said he was visiting Gen. and Mrs. Eisenhower to help celebrate their 32nd wedding anniversary, which was yesterday. They are old friends.

Strike Looms as Steelmen Charge Lewis, Union

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—Eighteen major steel companies refused today to sign the new coal mining contract and filed charges of unfair labor practices against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers.

Their stand appeared certain to bring a strike at the so-called "captive" coal mines of the steel companies. What the miners will do will become known July 6 when the present mining holiday ends.

The contract the steel companies refused to sign is the one Lewis negotiated with major commercial coal mining companies. It became effective July 1.

The steel companies contend a provision for a union shop is outlawed by the Taft-Hartley act. That law permits a union shop if the workers vote for it in a national labor relations board election. No such election has been held among the miners.

The charges of unfair labor practices were filed with the NLRB.

Harry M. Moses, negotiator for the captive coal mine operators, said they are "hopeful that immediate action will be taken by the general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board to have this issue judicially determined at as early a date as possible."

All of the major steel companies, including Republic, Bethlehem and Jones and Laughlin joined in making the charges.

Moses said the union shop provision insisted upon by Lewis "is a clear violation of the Taft-Hartley act."

"That act expressly provides that there shall be no unfair labor practices for an employer to make the union shop provision effective unless the National Labor Relations Board has certified that it is a fair labor practice."

U. S. Surplus Largest in History-Snyder

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—Secretary of Treasury Snyder said today the government's "true" budget surplus for the fiscal year 1948 was $6,491,469,843.61 by far the biggest in history.

Snyder said the figures represent "the actual excess of receipts over expenditures in the fiscal year," which ended June 30.

By congressional reckoning it would be $3,000,000,000 less, Snyder said, reflecting what he called a "bookkeeping switch" ordered by Congress in its closing moments.

What Congress did was to direct the Treasury to take $3,000,000,000 from the past fiscal year's surplus and set it up on the books as an advance credit against spending in the 1949 fiscal year. The money was placed to the credit of the European recovery program yesterday. It will be spent as needs of the program arise.

The effect will be to make spending in the new fiscal year seem $3,000,000,000 lower than it would be otherwise. The shift will bolster the fiscal 1949 budget so as to avert a possible deficit at the end of June 30, 1949.

Taking either the administration's "true" $6,491,000,000 figure or the $3,491,000,000 figure of Congress the surplus is the second in a row after deficits for the preceding 10 straight years.

By the administration figure it is more than seven times the highest previous surplus of $1,155,000,000 registered 21 years ago during President Coolidge's administration.

KCS Has Worst Derailment in History

DeQueen, July 2.—(AP)—Kansas City Southern Railway traffic was being routed over Frisco tracks today following one of the worst derailments in KCS history.

Exactly the date of opening has not been released.

Borrowers are asked not to return books next week or until the new library is officially open. No fines will be assessed.

Hot Weather Is Predicted for Holidays

Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—A hot weekend appeared in prospect for most of the Midwest but the East Coast states got relief after a few days of humid weather.

Temperatures will hit the 90's in the northeast for most of the next three days. Hot weather loomed in the Gulf region and over the mountain states.

It is estimated that about 15 percent of all elementary school pupils in the United States are still taught in one-room, one-teacher schools in the open country.

Deadline Tonight for Filing Acts to Go on Ballot

Little Rock, July 2.—(AP)—Midnight tonight is the deadline for filing proposed constitutional amendments and initiated acts for a vote at the 1948 general election.

Under the law such proposals must be filed 120 days in advance of the election.

The proposed constitutional amendments and two initiated acts have been filed.

Two of the amendments were submitted by the 1947 legislature. One would permit the legislature to set up a registration system for voters at places where the second would permit school district electors to vote a millage tax of any amount desired instead of the present 10 mill maximum.

The third, of which Governor Laney is chief sponsor, would prohibit the legislature from imposing a millage tax for state purposes.

The two initiated acts are the Arkansas Education Association's school reorganization measure and a measure to prohibit local option liquor sale elections at any time other than on the dates of regular biennial general elections.

Holy Land Truce in Final Week, No Agreement

Cairo, July 2.—(AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte is expected in Cairo tomorrow to try to salvage the truce between Arabs and Jews. He is expected to talk with the Arab League and the Jewish Agency.

An Arab League informant said this last night after Arab leaders refused to send representatives to Bernadotte's Rhodes headquarters and asked the United Nations Palestine mediator to come here if he wished to talk with them.

Bernadotte arrived in Jerusalem last night to straighten out truce problems, including food allotments for the city's 100,000 Jews.

Moshe Shertok, Israeli foreign minister also visited Jerusalem yesterday. He discussed truce problems with Jewish civic leaders. Archbishop Guyvato Testa, Vatican envoy, is also in the Holy City, inspecting religious buildings to determine the damage caused by the recent siege.

A high Arab League source said the league will turn down Bernadotte's proposals for a permanent Palestine peace and has appointed a committee to draft a reply to the mediator's plan, submitted last night.

The Nationalist newspaper Al Misiir said here Bernadotte had proposed the Arabs agree to the plan to Trans-Jordan, and that the Arabs accept Israel as a Jewish state.

Al Misiir said the plan would be continued on page two

Slav Reds in Appeal to Stalin

By the Associated Press
London, July 2.—Yugoslav Communists appealed directly to Premier Marshal Tito and his leadership.

The Yugoslavs repeated their assertion the Cominform charges were a pack of lies and said Stalin ought to wipe them off the record.

The Yugoslav appeal amounted to a request to reverse the policies of one of his right hand men, Andrei A. Zhdanov, secretary of the central committee of the Soviet Communist party and the guiding spirit of the Cominform.

Approximately 15,000 Communists in Belgium sent a message directly to Stalin which affirmed their faith in Premier Marshal Tito.

They asked Stalin to do everything in his power to bring out the truth in reply to the charges by the Cominform, the nine-nation Communist bloc against Tito, the National Bureau. It has charged Tito and his leaders with being anti-Russian and traitors to Marxism.

The message to Stalin was tendered in composition, but the effect was to underline the Yugoslav Communist position for Tito.

"Our love towards you and the whole Soviet Union and everything you did for humanity is unlimited, as well as our belief that you will do everything in your power so that the truth will be brought out in a very short time," it said. "Long live your teacher of love towards the Soviet Union, Comrade Tito, and long live our big friend, Stalin."

The powerful central committee of the Communist party in Russia has already approved the Cominform blast against Tito. It is hard to believe that the Cominform took its original action without approval of Stalin.

The Communists meeting in Belgrade sent a second telegram to the Yugoslav Communist committee of the Cominform, which has denounced the Cominform charges as lies and slander. The telegram expressed faith in the committee and Tito.

An additional sign of a break between Yugoslavia and the rest of the Communist states was reported from Bucharest, the Rumanian capital. The Cominform bulletin was published there last night. It has been coming out in Belgrade.

Democrats in Bid for Labor Union Vote

By JOSEPH NOLAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The Democratic national committee, with an eye on the powerful labor vote, has invited four top-ranking union leaders to address the party's Philadelphia convention. It was revealed today.

Invitations have been sent to William Green and Philip Murray, president of the AFL and CIO respectively; Dan Tobin, head of the AFL Teamsters' Union, the nation's largest; and A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Green and Tobin called at the White House within the past week. But both were coy about whether they intend to support President Truman in November. Tobin, a delegate to the Democratic convention in 1940 and 1944, refused a request this country had asked for the return of the vessels came out incidentally during Secretary of State Marshall's news conference. He said the request was made during discussions with the Russians regarding a final lend-lease settlement.

The American government has been trying for the past 14 months to reach an agreement with the Soviets winding up the $11,290,000,000 lend-lease account.

Other officials said after the State Department had demanded the return of the 31 vessels in January. Thus far, they said, Russia has "stalled" about turning them back.

The original request for return of the vessels went out early in the negotiations. Apparently irritated by Russia's failure to comply, the State Department in January then demanded their "immediate return."

Marshall said the Russians have returned eight merchant ships "lend-leased" to them but they still hold 87 others. The return of these is one of the main topics under discussion.

Marshall said the department is studying Ambassador Panyushkin's latest proposal for settling the lend-lease account but that no decision has been reached yet.

Russia Also Feeling Blockade

By WALTER RUNDLE
Berlin, July 2.—(UP)—Russia's starvation blockade of Berlin, revealed by the blockade of Berlin, today with the Soviets feeling its effects more than the Western powers against whom it was directed.

The combined air might of the United States and Britain raised the blockade of Berlin to a level which more food was being flown in each day than the 2,500,000 persons in the Western sectors of the German capital consume.

Simultaneously, signs appeared that the blockade weapon had turned back upon the Russians, causing them shortages of flour, penicillin, insulin and streptomycin.

The apparent Soviet shortages, revealed by indirect efforts of Russia to barter with the Western powers, gave weight to persistent reports that the Soviet authorities soon would be forced to lift the blockade.

Captain Chase Hears Call of the Sea But He Has Given It All That He Ever Will

By HAL BOYLE
Satan Island, N. Y. — (AP)—Eighty-two-year-old Capt. Charles Chase sits and watches with weary blue eyes the sea that first called him at the age of 12.

But the sea calls him no more. He gave it his life and his daughter and he's through with it now forever.

Capt. Chase, a man who knew the science of putting canvas against the wind, was crowded out by men who had learned the science of engines and turning propellers.

"I never had any use for steam, and I still don't," he said stubbornly.

Few veterans of the era of sail are still alive. There are only two—Capt. Chase and George O'Neill, 91—among the 400 retired mariners living at the "Sailors' Snug Harbor" here, a home for old salts.

"The others aren't sailors—they're just poor old crippled cripples," said Capt. Chase. He thinks neither the scum nor the ships of today measure up to those in the days of the clippers.

He ran away himself from his Maine home at 12 to work under sail. He was in the Pacific island trade.

"I loved sail and I guess I stayed with it too long," he said. "When I turned from sail to steam it was too late. I never did get to sea."

Capt. Chase spends his time now eating models of the graceful ships with crowding sails in which he spent his life.

"I remember there used to be three or four ships leave San Francisco every day," he said. "They were small ships—only about 100 feet long. We used to have two to three hundred pigs and maybe half a dozen rams on deck. About the third day the deck would be covered with flies, and the passengers'd begin to complain."

1000 Chinese Drowned in Flash Floods

Foochow, China, June 28 (De-ly)—(AP)—A sudden flash flood today killed 1,000 Chinese and left 200,000 homeless and destroyed 10,000 buildings.

Heavy rains in the upper reaches of the Min river made the stream a raging torrent. Thousands of persons, perched on rooftops, were swept into the stream.

Russia Keeps Ships Despite U.S. Demand

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—The United States demanded today that Russia return immediately 23 naval frigates and three ice breakers "lend-leased" to the Soviets during the war. The ships still have not been returned.

The United States had asked for the return of the vessels came out incidentally during Secretary of State Marshall's news conference. He said the request was made during discussions with the Russians regarding a final lend-lease settlement.

The American government has been trying for the past 14 months to reach an agreement with the Soviets winding up the $11,290,000,000 lend-lease account.

Marines Held by Sino Reds Are Released

Tsingtao, China, July 2.—(AP)—Four U. S. Marines held captive by Chinese Communists since April 5 were released today, the navy announced.

They are Lt. Harold W. Hawkins, 25, Kalamazoo, Mich.; M-Sgt. Thomas J. Shaw, 32, Winfield, La.; T-Sgt. Robert C. White, 25, Norfolk, Va.; and Corp. Robert R. Lewis, 19, Petersburg, N. Y.

The flights were forced down in Communist territory on Shanung peninsula while on a routine flight. Navy officials said they were in good health when returned here today.

The navy public information officer, H. E. Reece, said the quartet had nothing to do but play cards during the three months they were held. He said the Communists lectured them and gave them Communist literature but that they were free to disregard both. There was "no rough stuff," he added.

They were fed an average Chinese soldier's diet, Hawkins said. The fliers were forced down to engine trouble.

Broadcasting Firms Withdrawing From U. S. Programs

New York, July 1.—(AP)—The National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System today announced they were withdrawing from the state department's "Voice of America" broadcast October 1.

A NBC spokesman said "We're drawing completely out of the picture, except possibly to lease our facilities to the government."

Both networks said they would continue to cooperate with the state department during the next three months to allow the "Voice of America" program structure to be reorganized.

12,288 Casualties in Japanese Earthquake

Tokyo, July 2.—(AP)—The U. S. Army First Corps announced officially today there were 12,288 casualties in Monday's earthquake at Fukui.

Tactical troops in the disaster area counted 1,595 dead, 2,682 injured seriously, and 8,031 treated for minor injuries, a corps spokesman said.

The count is still incomplete.

Three Persons Killed, 6 Hurt in Highway Wrecks Near Hope and Blewins

Wilbur B. Price, aged 28, of DeWitt, Ark., was fatally injured in a truck accident four miles southwest of Hope on the Spring Hill road today. This brings to three the number killed in accidents in Hempstead county in less than 24 hours.

Price, who died about 1:30 p.m., three hours after the wreck, was driving a large truck loaded with lumber and was rounding a curve when the vehicle collided with a pickup truck driven by Mrs. E. Monroe of Spring Hill. She suffered a head injury which is not believed to be serious.

Riding in the cab with Price was Willie Carl Muldrow, 18-year-old Negro of McNab. He escaped with only an arm injury.

The lumber truck driver was pinned in the truck for more than 30 minutes following the crash. A wrecker was used to pull away part of the crushed cab and steering gear holding him in while more than a dozen men lifted the truck.

He suffered a crushed head and other injuries. He was brought to a local hospital by a Hempstead ambulance.

Both trucks were badly damaged. State Policeman Milton Mosier investigated the accident.

Allies Planning to Deal With Berlin Blockade

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—Secretary Marshall said today the State Department is consulting congressional leaders and conferring with Britain and France on dealing with the Russian blockade of Berlin.

At a news conference, the secretary of state said American policy is being determined in consultation with Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Eaton (R-N.Y.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Marshall opened the conference by saying he knew that many people wanted to ask him questions about the Berlin situation. He said he could only say that the American government has been closely engaged in considering the various developments in Berlin and particularly engaged in discussions with the governments of the United Kingdom and France.

Marshall said he could not make any statement as to the procedure of dealing with the Berlin situation, but commented that it would appear in due course anyway.

Marshall was asked by reporters to comment on speculation that as a result of the Berlin crisis, or other European developments, there might be a meeting of the Big Four or the Big Three powers. He replied that he was sorry to say he could make no comment at that time.

The Marshall news conference came after a morning session of the Berlin situation at President Truman's cabinet table.

The cabinet members, as usual, declined when leaving the session to discuss it with reporters.

At Least 235 Will Die Over Holidays

Chicago, July 2.—(UP)—More than 30,000 automobiles will crowd the nation's highways during the Fourth of July weekend, and 235 persons will die in traffic accidents, the National Safety Council predicted today.

The council does not include those killed by fireworks, drowning, and other holiday mishaps.

During the recent three-day Memorial Day weekend, 212 persons were killed in traffic accidents. In addition, 93 drivers and 144 died in miscellaneous accidents.

The death toll could be cut the council said, if motorists and vacationers would observe the following rules:

1. Don't speed. Be patient and courteous in heavy traffic.

2. Don't drink if you drive.

3. Don't permit children to have fireworks. Attend public displays instead.

4. Don't overdo in exercise, eating, or exposure to sun.

5. Don't swim alone, know the depth of the water, wait an hour after eating, and don't show off in the water or in boats.

Woman Beaten to Death in Apartment

Tulsa, Okla., July 2.—(AP)—A 42-year-old woman was found brutally beaten to death in her apartment today only a few hours after another woman and two teen-agers living in the same neighborhood were discovered savagely murdered in a similar attack.

Police identified the dead woman as Mrs. Ruth Morton, 42, an elevator operator in the National Bank of Tulsa building.

Her body was found lying on the bed of her bedroom, nude from the waist down, her head had been beaten with a heavy sharp instrument that inflicted deep gashes.

Police Commissioner J. C. Fred Lawrence, Jr., and Police Chief J. W. (Bud) Hollingsworth termed the murder one of the most brutal the city has ever had.

Clara Booth Luce Through With Politics

Ridgely, Conn., July 1 (AP)—Clara Booth Luce said today she was through with politics, both as a possible officeholder and campaigner. The former Connecticut congresswoman and writer gave the reasons for her decision. She told the Bridgeport Post in an interview that: "First, the facts that the Democratic Party ticket is 'as good as elected' and does not need her help.

a carnival and becomes one of the tent show's biggest and best attractions. The story, based upon the musical comedy by Sam Perrin and George Baker, gives the humble O'Connor plenty of opportunity to display his versatility as actor, dancer, singer and comedian.

Cute Miss San Juan also has chances to sing and dance as O'Connor's insurance secretary and carnival show girl. Dimpled Miss Stewart and the breezy Parker are midway personalities. Other players are Walter Catlett, Pat Lane, George O'Hanlon, Ransom Sherman and Louis Da Pron, who also staged the dances. The picture was directed by Jack Hively and produced by Robert Arthur from a screenplay by Oscar Brodsky.

A complete new musical score was written for the movie, containing such already popular tunes as "A Little Imagination," "Daddy, Surprise Me," "I'm Looking for a Prince of a Fella," and "What Do I Have to Do to Make You Love Me?"

The score is by Sidney Miller and Inez James. Harold Minsky, of the famed Minsky burlesque theatre family, served as technical advisor on the carnival sequences.

The title of the story comes from a carnival expression meaning "are you with the carnival?"

Virginia—A strongly worded resolution denouncing President Truman's civil rights program was rejected for adoption at the Virginia Democratic convention today. Under a new amendment to the state election laws, the convention can name a presidential candidate other than Mr. Truman. But party leaders doubted that the anti-Truman movement would go that far. Sen. Harry E. Ford, a "favorite son" candidate, withdrew before the state convention.

Platform—William Neale Roach, who's handling arrangements for the Democratic National Convention, said today that the plank platform for keeping dollar rates cool. It calls for (1) more fans, and (2) shorter speeches.

Marshall was asked just how closely he had been in touch with Ambassador Lewis Dandridge and other American diplomats in London where the western powers are having their main strategy talks. He said the State Department has received three or four telegrams a day from Dandridge on his assistant and there has been one telephone message.

In response to a question, Marshall said that he has not been in direct contact with John Foster Dulles since his resignation.

There is no significance in the lack of consultation with Dulles, Marshall said, because Dulles has been busy on other matters.

least a majority of the employees have voted by secret ballot under National Labor Relations Board supervision to authorize such a provision, Moses said in a statement.

Lewis has argued that the new agreement merely amends the 1947 contract on wages and the welfare fund, and leaves the union shop provision as it was.

All of the major steel companies, including Republic Steel, Bethlehem, and Jones and Laughlin, joined in making the unfair labor practice charges.

If General Counsel Robert N. Denham of the NLRB upholds the charges, he may seek a court order to keep Lewis from putting into effect the union shop provision in the contract which became effective for the rest of the industry July 1.

The steel companies held up their signature on the contract. A statement clarifying the position of the steel "captive" mines was expected momentarily. This would clear up whether they intended to sign the agreement and possibly avert a shut down of their mines July 6, when the miners' 10 day vacation ends.

The steel companies have broadly hinted that the 30,000, 40,000 miners in the steel-owned mines may not return if the so-called "captive" pits haven't been signed to the new coal agreement by then.

Such a strike would shut down much of the nation's supply of fueling steel mills. The industry probably could get partial supplies elsewhere, but coal stocks are still short because of the six-week mine strike last spring.

One reason for steel's delay in making known its decision on the Lewis contract seemed to be that it is negotiating new wage terms with the CIO steelworkers. There have been reports of industry talks this week with CIO President Philip Murray in Pittsburgh.

Earlier this year steel generally adopted a policy of no wage increases and no price increases. It rejected a pay boost for steelworkers for that reason.

But the new agreement Lewis signed with the commercial coal producers calls for a $1 daily hike in wages for coal miners, plus a doubling of the miners' share royalty to 20 cents a ton.

Steel trade journals now are predicting that the industry is dictating a steel price increase, working out a wage deal of its own.

The electrical manufacturing industry used almost one-fourth of all the copper consumed in the United States in 1939.

If some such strategy fails, the Soviets will have to face up to the fact that they have in a part of the world they consider critical to their own security an important nation no longer obedient to their every whim.

There is considerable speculation here as well as abroad that if Tito can block the first Soviet counter measures he will try to establish closer relations with the Western nations. Officials say, however, that so far there has been no such move on the part of the Yugoslav government.

If and when it does come about and if Yugoslavia tries to take part in the Marshall plan of European recovery, the United States is prepared to put the question to the European nations already in the program for a yes or no decision.

Bulletins

Elgin, Ill., July 2 (AP)—State police reported today that an undetermined number of passengers were trapped in a burning bus which overturned near McHenry in Lake county. Three squads from Elgin were sent to the scene.

Berlin, July 2 (AP)—U. S. Air Force officers said today they are investigating possible Soviet interference with the radio beam used by American pilots flying food to blockade Berlin.

The air force officials said radio beam interference over the Soviet occupation zone temporarily pulled American pilots off their courses from the west last night.

London, July 2 (AP)—Bob Falkenberg, 23-year-old American from Hollywood, California, won Wimbledon men's singles tennis championship today, defeating Australian John Bromwich, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5.

Midfield Scotland, July 2 (AP)—Henry Cotton, England's best known pro, won the British open golf championship for the third time today with a 72-hole score of 284.

will ease or end the surface blockade.

In near perfect weather, American and British transport planes, mostly American C-54s, shuttled continuously from the Western zones of Germany over the Soviet zone to Berlin.

They were accomplishing a feat which even high U. S. officers had doubted could be accomplished. They were bringing in supplies faster than the Western sectors of the city used them up.

An American spokesman said that by July 15, the air armadas would have flown in sufficient food to maintain the ration in the Western sectors for the entire month. That would be in addition to food stocks for one month already on hand here. Thus, by the middle of this month, there will be enough food to assure Berliners the present ration until Sept. 1.

And still the air effort was building up.

U. S. and British bombers similar to those which bombed Berlin in rubble soon may join the transport planes. One experimental bomber flight already had been made.

West Powers See Balkan Breakup

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, July 2 (AP)—What effect will the Communist crisis over Yugoslavia have on the cold war between Russia and the Western powers?

American officials trying to figure that out say the most immediate result is likely to be a break-up of the coordinated backing which Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania are reported to have been giving to the Communist guerrilla forces in Greece.

Authorities find it difficult to believe that with the split between Yugoslavia and the Albanians and Bulgarians on the one hand, and the Communists on the other, will be possible for them to go on working together in helping the Greek rebels.

Beyond this specific point, however, there is considerable reluctance to make a hard and fast estimate about any advantages which the West may gain, or may already have gained, out of the Communist troubles.

It is generally believed here by both American and foreign diplomats that the Communist high command in Moscow will make strenuous efforts soon to put an end to the situation which is at the core.

Some authorities believe that the Soviet Russian strategy may already be in motion and that the actions of the Albanian and Bulgarian Communist parties within the past two days are evidence of this fact.

These authorities see a pattern of isolation developing—the aim being to cut Yugoslavia off from friendly relations with the other Communist governments of Eastern Europe while the Kremlin tries to bring about the overthrow of Marshal Tito and the rest of the Yugoslav leaders in Yugoslavia.

There is no doubt here that Russian prestige has suffered a severe blow by what the Albanian Communist leaders branded as Tito's "open treason" against the high command of international communism.

The extent to which this damage to Soviet prestige becomes permanent may well depend, however, on the success of Russia's efforts to put Tito out of the way.

If some such strategy fails, the Soviets will have to face up to the fact that they have in a part of the world they consider critical to their own security an important nation no longer obedient to their every whim.

There is considerable speculation here as well as abroad that if Tito can block the first Soviet counter measures he will try to establish closer relations with the Western nations. Officials say, however, that so far there has been no such move on the part of the Yugoslav government.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, July 2 (AP)—Grains slipped on the board of trade today as rising temperatures in the Midwest forecast an excellent corn growing week-end.

The July corn contract was the weakest spot in the market, dropping around 2 cents at times. Weakness in the cash market was in part responsible for this slump, premiums at which buyers were willing to take cash corn over the July future were reduced 1 to 3 cents.

Wheat was off around a cent at times despite moderate foreign flour business. Trading was not active in view of Monday's holiday. The usual short session will be held tomorrow.

Wheat closed 1 1-2 3-4 lower, July $2.3 3-4 1/2, corn was 3/4 to 3/8 lower, July $2.19 1/2, oats were 3/4-1 1/2 lower, July $9.34 3/8, and soybeans were 1 to 1 1/2 lower, July $1.1.

Wheat in the spot market followed the futures trade today with values unchanged to a cent lower bushels; tipping ails 14,000 bushels receipts 30 cars. Corn was 2 to four cents less; bushels, 15,000 bushels shipping sales 15,000 bushels; receipts 85 cars. Oats were unchanged to a cent lower, basis unchanged to firm; bushels 15,000 bushels; receipts 22 cars. Soybeans receipts were 10 cars.

New York, July 2 (AP)—The stock market got rolling in the last hour of trading today and closed around the best average level in 22 months.

Final prices were up fractions to around 2 points above the level of the last hour. Volume expanded but not enough to lift the day's business much above 600,000 shares, or about in line with the week's stock business.

Demand was encouraged according to talk in the financial district by the permanent injunction against a rail strike issued by federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough.

Others higher included Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Seaboard Airline, Illinois Central, Rockwell Oil, Superior Oil of California, Standard Oil (N.J.), Paramount pictures, Plymouth oil, Virginia-Carolina Chemical U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, General Motors, Chrysler and General Electric.

Forrest City Girl Wins Beauty Contest

Newport, July 2 (AP)—A blue-eyed blonde who hopes to make a career of the stage is "Miss Arkansas of 1948."

Winning a close finish in the annual beauty contest sponsored by the East Arkansas Young Men's Club here last night, Miss Mary Van McDaniel of Forrest City will represent Arkansas in the "Miss America" contest at Atlantic City later this summer.

The 19-year-old daughter of Mrs. Louis McDaniel barely nosed out Mary E. Pittman, 19, a blonde from Brinkley.

Miss McDaniel, a dramatics student at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., where she will be a sophomore next fall, entertained a crowd of 7,000 and scored heavily with the judges when she presented a dramatic reading. A talent points were added to beauty attributes in determining the winner.

Miss McDaniel, who succeeds Pam Camp of Little Rock as the state's beauty queen, was crowned by Governor Laney.

She is five feet, five and a half inches tall and weighs 118 pounds. Her other measurements are: bust 34 inches; waist 23 inches; hips 34 inches.

Marcella Batchelor, Malvern, was third; Betty Packett, Little Rock fourth, and Patsy Mabie, Helena, fifth.

Other finalists, survivors of an original field of 29 contestants, were: Julia Divens, West Helena; Bobbie Hurley, Newport; Christine Tricoff, Marianna; Susan Campbell, Lonoke, and Loray Childs, Hot Springs.

The EAYMC voted to hold next year's contest at either Little Rock or North Little Rock. Mayor Jack Cox of Brinkley was elected president of the club.

Miss McDaniel is one of four sisters who have won beauty crowns. Mrs. Richard W. Freeman, Newport, was Queen Elberta at Forrest City 20 years ago. Mrs. John C. Bowen Jr., was Miss Forrest City 15 years ago and Mrs. Louis Hayden Jr., was Miss Mid-South in 1935.

DOROTHY DIX Proxy Mother Complex

Dear Miss Dix: I have dated a young lady several times, but my friends warn me not to get too serious, as, although she has worked at one place for 15 years, where she earned $65 a week, she hasn't a penny saved. She spends everything she makes on her sister's children and she says that after marriage she will continue to do so. She doesn't even dress herself properly. Says she can't afford good clothes. There are six children and the father and mother are both well and hearty.

I am a bachelor of 33, making $15 a week, but I am saving to buy a home when I marry. If I ever do, what do you think of this girl as a matrimonial prospect? Do you think she ever would change? I would not like to spend my life working to support somebody's lazy family.

DAILY READER

Answer: I would take a dim view of the young lady in question as a wife, for when an old maid develops the proxy mother complex and goes shabby so that her nieces and nephews can be well-dressed, the case is hopeless. Any man she might marry would always play second fiddle to her sister's kids, and she would always expect Friend Husband to turn over his salary to buy the youngsters fancy clothes and bicycles and football outfits and the other paraphernalia that the modern child demands.

Sacrifice Husbands

It is a very common thing for wives to sacrifice their husbands ruthlessly to their poor relations. I have known many cases in which men who were thrifty and industrious and highly competent in their line, were never able to accumulate a dollar because their wives spent every cent they made on their families.

Always somebody was getting sick, or having a baby, or had gotten behind with the rent, or needed a change, and the poor, hard-working husband had to foot the bill. Otherwise the wife's family would have had to roll up their sleeves and go to work, which would have been just too bad.

Of course, it may be a very altruistic thing for an old bachelor to qualify as a mother's helper in a case where there are six small children, but before you do it you had better count the cost.

Dear Miss Dix: My husband has been dead nine years. I have reared by five sons to Christian manhood and feel that I now have a right to whatever happiness I can get from life. In fact, I am thinking about getting married to a man with whom I have been friends for fifteen years and with whom I have many things in common.

But his wife has not been dead very long and, while neither of us means any disrespect to her memory, we feel that we need each other badly. So our question is: How long after the death of a husband or wife is it permissible to be seen with the opposite sex? How soon can one remarry without bringing criticism down upon him or her? If we were to marry within a seven or eight month period, would people have a right to criticize us? Would it be disrespectful to those whose memories we hold dear?

Answer: Circumstance alters cases. You and your fiancé are two lonely old people who need companionship far more than any young person does, so I think you are very wise to get married, and that it is perfectly permissible for you to do so as soon as you please. People used to make a cult of

New Musical Director at Tabernacle

The Tabernacle has secured Rev. S. Joseph Geno, of Bridgeton, mourning and accounted it unto themselves for righteousness never to get over the loss of anyone they loved. Now they bring more philosophy and courage and real faith in God to the situation, and they look their sorrows up by their own hearts and try to make the best of what is left of life for them.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We are three high school girls who are very fond of three young boys who recently have been sentenced to jail for their participation in stealing a car. This was not their first offense. However, this doesn't dampen our feelings toward them. We are respected highly in our community and we would like your opinion as to what we should do.

Answer: You certainly are in need, not only of advice, but of a few grains of common sense. If this were a first offense it might be charged off as a prank, but since these boys continuously indulge in lawlessness, you must face the fact that any girl who associates with thieves is bound to sink to their level, and that you would ruin your lives by their folly.

THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling owes Harry Bindle a gambling debt of $10,000 he can't pay. His wealthy wife, Miriam, has refused him the money. He comes home late after dodging Bindle all day. Miriam is over at 11 to collect. Marcus is desperate. Miriam comes in, wearing her fabulous diamond necklace. In order to get her out of the library before Bindle arrives, Marcus gives her a doped drink. Keyed up, he speaks cruelly. Miriam, wounded, takes her drink to her room. At 11 on the dot, Bindle shows up. He demands the money under threat. Marcus, covered, gets an idea. He tells Bindle he's going up to see his wife.

Upstairs, Sterling went directly to his own room, closing the door before flicking on the light. From a dresser drawer he took a pair of fabric gloves and slipped his hands into them. He carefully wiped the keys he had handled, then slipped the ring again over one finger. He paused at his desk long enough to take a small pencil flashlight from a drawer. He turned off the light, opened the door quickly, and closed it after stepping into the hall. He stood a moment at the door of his wife's room, listening. He could hear nothing. He turned the knob stealthily, pushed the door back a bare crack. The room was dark, silent. He widened the opening, stepped through noiselessly, pushed back the door to shut out the stray light from the hall. Erect, rigid, Sterling waited. After a moment he was able just barely to detect the sound of regular breathing from across the room. He moved cautiously until he stood beside the bed.

Windows at the end of the room, their shades raised, admitted grayish night light to which his eyes were becoming accustomed. He could make out just vaguely his wife's form beneath the coverlet. One bare arm lay exposed. He saw her face in shadowy profile against the pillow. He satisfied himself that she was asleep.

He moved around the foot of the bed, treading lightly on his toes. He swept the beam of his small flashlight quickly across the top of the dressing table. He saw the drink Miriam had brought up with her. Fully two-thirds of it was still in the glass. The discovery unnerved him momentarily. Miriam might not be safely asleep. Then he made another discovery that was frightening. Beside the glass was the small bottle with the ominous red label. He had left it far back among other bottles. That meant Miriam had handled it after coming up.

It meant... Sterling's pulse stopped at the thought... that Miriam had added more of the deadening drops to her drink. The full six, probably. Perhaps the first few swallows of the now heavily doped liquid had knocked her off. That could account for her drinking barely a third of it. Sterling moved on to the dresser, played his light across it. Cautiously he pulled out the top drawer several inches, searched inside with the small beam of light. The trinkets, items of costume jewelry it revealed were of no interest to him.

He found the bag Miriam had been carrying on a chair. He opened it and carefully emptied its contents. He had no thought here of finding anything of interest. He was wondering what he thought the burglar would do if the burglar were looking for keys. His brief survey of the dressing table and dresser had convinced him that his earlier reasoning had been correct: Miriam had needed her keys to lock up her necklace... that was why she had not left her car keys with him before coming upstairs.

Sterling stood again beside the bed, near the head. He was stealing himself for a final preliminary... one that might make unnecessary the more hazardous part of his prowling venture. He bent over and waited until his vision could define the outline of that exposed arm, the shoulder bare except for the flimsy strap of the sheer gown. Bending closer, Sterling steadied himself with the pencil flashlight pointed at the shoulder, a bare six inches distant. He flicked on the light. Let the tiny luminous circle follow the curve of a breast to the V of the gown, let it tarry just briefly on the slender throat, then shut it off. There had been no answering flash of light.

Sterling straightened, trembling from the strain of that brief ordeal. He turned toward the wall beside the head of the bed. He remembered a small teakwood table that stood there, the tall heavy candlestick on it. He reached over that impediment carefully to push aside a framed watercolor, held it aside while he used the flashlight to locate the thin keyhole in the circular embedded safe-door. He slipped in the long flat key on Miriam's key-ring, turned it until he heard a click, then pulled out the exact little door.

Pausing only to glance quickly at the bed, Sterling played his flashlight into the round cavity, to be startled by an answering deluge of dazzling flashes. His wife's necklace lay just inside the opening. Evidently she had put it in the safe hurriedly, not even taking time to put it in its box. Sterling transferred it to a side pocket, still intent upon the inside of the small safe. Also toward the front lay a flat packet, envelope size. Bonds, perhaps, he thought, or possibly currency. He decided that a burglar would take it. He slipped the packet into an inside coat pocket. As an afterthought, he brushed some papers from the safe to the floor.

A sound reached him from the bed... a break in that faint, regular breathing... a choked, incoherent word.

Sterling hugged back against the wall, beyond the small table with its tall candlestick, listening, waiting breathlessly.

Ex-Officers Are Fined on Assault, Battery Charge

Memphis, Tenn., July 2 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Will Gerber said two former police officers whose trial on assault to murder charges ended yesterday may face another trial on mayhem charges.

A criminal court jury acquitted Carl W. Brewer and fined Lonnie E. Bryan $51 dollars on an assault and battery count.

The charges grew out of a Negro's accusation that he was struck in police headquarters and then beaten on the way to a hospital. He lost his right eye after the incident.

use, were not announced. Area in which the planes are stored has been closed to the public.

Sgt. P. J. Leavelle is in charge of the squad, sent here from Tinker Field, Okla.

U. S. Hopes for British Title Is Fading

Muirfield, Scotland, July 2 (UP)—Henry Cotton, veteran British pro, carded a 75 today on the golf championship to retain his third round of the British Open lead among the early finishers with a total of 212 strokes as American hopes for the title dwindled.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., recent winner of the British Amateur crown, shot a 75, but was far back of Cotton at the three-quarter mark with a 64-hole total of 223.

Merchants Have Hard Time With Clarksville

Before approximately 2,000 spectators and a large radio audience the Hope Merchants took a thriller from Clarksville, Texas by a score of 1 to 0, last night at the Fair park. Pitcher Mutt Ferguson held the visitors to three hits as the entire team gave him perfect backing in the field. Bob White led the Merchants in fielding and scored the only run of the game. In the fourth inning White received a base on balls, took second on a passed ball by the catcher, stole third, and came home on a sacrifice by Pony Reeves. Roy Taylor got the only Hope hit, a long triple also in the fourth frame but was left stranded on third as the Clarksville pitcher went to work to retire the next two batters. In the field Gilson Ross retired 6 base runners and Hammons, D. Ross, Reeves, and S. Bell played errorless ball. The Merchants were in deep water in the fifth inning after a base on balls and two errors loaded the bases with one away. The next man hit to Bob White, who fielded perfectly and threw the man out going home and Mutt Ferguson took the next batter by the strike out route. The Merchants will leave Hope at 6:30 Monday morning to play the first game in the Shreveport tournament at 10 o'clock.

Barclay Still Firing in College Meet

Palo Alto, Calif., July 2 (AP)—Defending Champion Dave Barclay of Michigan was still in there firing his best shots as quarter-finals of the National Collegiate Golf Tournament began this morning. But the going was getting rougher.

One other pre-tournament favorite, Lou Stakford of Oregon was in the running.

Title holder Barclay, whose throne tottered during two thundering rounds yesterday, teed off against Tom Lambie of Stanford University to lead the quarter-finals paradox over the Stanford.

The top billing for today belongs to Stafford, picked by many to outlast the entire field, and Edwin Hopkins of the University of Texas. Hopkins upset a strong choice yesterday when he defeated Charles Coe of Oklahoma 3 and 2 in the third round.

The rangy Texan, longest hitter in the tournament, proved he could hit the low scoring brackets by winning from Coe in sub-par golf. Many had liked Coe's chances. The Oklahoma, a semi-finalist last year, couldn't match Hopkins' one under par 35 and was 3 down at the time.

Loddie Kempa of Oklahoma A. M. took on Ted Richards of UCLA in another quarterfinals match.

Richards quoted his third round opponent with sub-par golf, but has drawn a stubborn foe in left-handed Kempa. The unorthodox Oklahoma won both second and third rounds by going an extra hole. He eliminated one of the big guns, Charles Lind of Denver in the third round.

Around the Arkansas Sport Loop

By CARL BELL

Little Rock, July 2 (AP)—Failure of Charles Baker to make the U. S. Olympic team was a disappointment to both the University of Arkansas athletes and fans of the state. But it certainly was nothing of which to be ashamed.

The general impression of sports writers who covered the decathlon tryouts was that the field this year was the strongest in history. It would be no surprise if the U. S. representatives finish 1-2-3 at London next month.

And, while Baker neither needs nor offers an alibi, his coach, Herbert Hooser, said when the Razorback star left for the tryouts at Bloomfield, N. J., that he wasn't in top condition. A summer cold had been troubling him.

At that he emerged as seventh best all-around athlete in the nation.

It's hard to picture just how Piusley Askeu, the new University of Arkansas freshman basketball coach, will fit into the Razorback cage scheme.

"Press" proved his ability as coach at Van Buren high school. But he is well-schooled in the ball-controlling style of defensive play, while the Parker variety of years under both Glen Rose and present Coach Gene Lambert, has played all-out offensive basketball.

"Give me a center and two tackles and we'll be in the going this fall," says Bud Pryon, coach of the state Class B champion Dermott Rams of last year. . . . Catcher-Manager Johnnie George of the Pine Bluff Cardinals bought a knotty bat for $1.47 and got four hits the first five times he used it. George, by the way, lifted the Cards out of the Cotton States League cellar in his first week as manager. . . . Arkansas' only league-leading baseball team is the Pine Bluff Cardinals, a Class C club. . . . Stan Hollings, who pointed and passed the Texas Aggies to a football tie with Arkansas last fall, made his pro baseball debut with Wilmington, Del., a Philly farm, last night. An outfielder by trade, he went hitless as a pinch batter. . . . R. W. Burnett's sale of the Texarkana baseball team reduced name monopoly on Arkansas sports. Johnnie Burnett is executive secretary of the Arkansas Athletic Association and statistician of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference. Raymond (Stubby) Burnett is a coach at Arkansas Tech. They aren't related, though.

Unfinished Work
Not one of Michelangelo's statues is completely finished, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica, because the sculptor was impatient, impetuous, and usually attacked the block of marble without sufficient preparation.

Scott, Dillard Draw Attention of Olympic Meet

Milwaukee, July 2 (AP)—Three burning Olympic questions may be settled here today and tomorrow when 510 athletes compete in the 60th annual National Amateur Athletic Union track championships.

They are: Can any American challenge Herb McKenley at 400 meters? Can Gil Dodds come back Can Clyde (Smackover) Scott beat Harrison Dillard in the 110 meter high hurdles?

The big meet is the second avenue to the final Olympic tryouts at Evanston, Ill., July 9-10. The national collegiates, held two weeks ago, was the other one.

McKenley said he would aim at an incredible 458 in the 400, two tenths of a second better than his own unofficial world mark. He picked Scotty Rucks of South Carolina, national collegiate champion at 47.1, as his foremost opponent.

The most exciting individual duel pits Dillard and Scott probably the world's best high hurdles. Dillard bettered the world record at 120 yards with 13.6 at the Kansas relays. Scott won the collegiates in 13.7.

Dodds, the flying parson, did the mile in 4:03.8 last Saturday. Now he will aim at the metric 1,500 where the Swedes are expected to be supreme.

Five men who made the 1936 Amsterdam olympic team what competed at Berlin are due to try again. They are Henry Dreyer, hammer; Earle Meadows, pole vault; and Don Lash, 10,000 meters; Joe McCluskey, in Meadows won the 1936 Olympic pole vault. Albritton was second in the steeplechase and Dave Albritton in the high jump.

THIS IS OUR FINE
HERITAGE

Let us guard it well, for there are malevolent forces at work to wrest it from us. They might continue to hail it as an American document -- even perpetuate its parchment under glass. But they would destroy its very meaning; distort it with instruments to smother all freedom; cripple our right to liberty; and make our observance of anniversaries such as this Independence Day -- a thing of the past.
